Please explain how these funds will be used to provide a public benefit:

The funds will support the exploration of mitochondrial organelle transplantation as a novel treatment of Alzheimer's disease, other forms of dementia, and rare pediatric mitochondrial disorders. The mitochondrial organelles will be produced in South Carolina. If successful, the public will benefit from new treatments for Alzheimer's disease, other forms of dementia, and rare pediatric disorders. In addition, the production of the treatment would occur in South Carolina, providing an economic development benefit to the public. The public will benefit from improved quality of life, decreased healthcare costs and economic development.
